

[COMPANY NAME]

Policy & Form Cross-Reference Cover Sheet

Form Title	Infection Control Information
Our Policy #	7.1 equiv.
Our Policy Name	Surveillance, Identification, Prevention, and Control of Infectious and Communicable Diseases
ACHC DRX Reference	DRX7-1A
CMS Standard Reference	ACHC Standard — patient education on infection control as related to the product/service received
Accrediting Organization	[ACCREDITING ORGANIZATION]

[COMPANY NAME]

INFECTION CONTROL INFORMATION

[COMPANY NAME] follows infection prevention practices to protect you, your family, and our staff. Here's what you can do to help reduce infection risk related to your equipment and supplies.

HAND HYGIENE

Wash your hands with soap and water, or use hand sanitizer, before and after handling your equipment or supplies — especially before touching any part that contacts your skin or body.

EQUIPMENT CLEANING

Follow the cleaning instructions provided with your equipment. Clean and disinfect equipment on the schedule recommended by the manufacturer or [COMPANY NAME]. Never share personal-use equipment or supplies (such as tubing, masks, or filters) with another person.

SUPPLY STORAGE

Store supplies in a clean, dry area away from dust and contamination. Check expiration dates before use, and do not use expired supplies. Dispose of used supplies according to the instructions provided.

WHEN TO CONTACT US OR YOUR PHYSICIAN

Contact [COMPANY NAME] or your physician promptly if you notice signs of infection related to your equipment or supplies, such as:

- Redness, swelling, warmth, or unusual drainage at a site where equipment contacts your skin
- Fever or chills without another clear explanation
- Equipment that appears damaged, cracked, or visibly contaminated

If you're personally experiencing signs of a serious infection, contact your physician or seek emergency care right away.

Infection Control Information

Form Version: [FORM VERSION] | Governing Policy: DRX7-1A

© 2026 AVB Support Solutions LLC • Licensed to [COMPANY NAME] — unauthorized reproduction or resale prohibited.